

Dinner and conversation with Ethan Casey in honor of his new book

Bearing the Bruise: A lifetime in Haiti

With Chef Tom McNaughton

of Flour and Water Restaurant

Friday November 11, 2011 5PM

at

Nicasio, California

$200 per person (limited seating)

RSVP : DG Educational Services (501c3),

415/662-1099

Myhaiticoffee@gmail.com

Half the profits will go toward Ethan's book sponsorship program and the other half toward DGES' Ag development in Haiti.

Meci anpil

"Your thesis about the myopic narratives assigned to both Haiti and Pakistan by the U.S. is a consideration whose day is long overdue, and I appreciate your bringing it to the forefront."
Paul Farmer, Partners in Health

"One of my guiding principles as a traveler and reporter is that understanding should always precede both judgment and action. My books are my contributions to helping myself and other Americans improve our understanding of two chronically misunderstood countries. My book sponsorship program is a way to help get more copies of both books into the hands of more Americans, by giving them away to students, teachers, libraries, and political, religious, and civic leaders around the United States."

Ethan Casey, Author

Please visit our websites at:

HaitiCoffee.com

DGES.org

DevilsGulchRanch.com

flourandwater.com

EthanCasey.com

The True Taste of Haiti